COMMITTEES

Parliament's main business is to advise on the political acceptability of Commission proposals for Community laws. In discharging this responsibility, Parliament relies heavily on its specialist committees to whom all proposals are referred in the first instance. Committees consider the proposals, appointing a rapporteur to sum up the consensus in a brief report, the conclusions to which take the form of a motion to be put to the House in plenary session.

The following pages give details of the committees' membership, secretariats and terms of reference.

Secretariat: Mr Giuseppe Gallo

These sectors have been combined under a single committee because they cover the distribution of economic activities in the geographic territory of the Community and because regional policy measures are closely linked with a regional planning policy, with transport infrastructure, the possibility of developing transport and the cost of such development.

This committee is responsible for:

- the problems of regional policy, of the less developed regions and of the frontier regions;
- matters relating to a regional planning policy;
- the development of a common transport policy;
- the creation of a European Transport network;
- the liberalisation of international transport;
- discrimination, harmonisation and coordination in the sphere of transport;
- problems involved in transport by air, sea and pipeline;
- possible overlapping of a common transport policy and rules on competition or the requirements of social, agricultural, energy or regional policy (see Article 3(e), Articles 74 and 84 of the EEC Treaty and Articles 70 and seq. of the ECSC Treaty).
