1. EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

The consultation process in the framework of the Council Decisions of 18 April 2007 and 1st October 2007 was continued throughout the year with the EU Troika meeting with the interim Government, mainly on the level of Permanent Secretaries, but also with the interim prime Minister. The European Commission continued to support the preparations for elections through provision of the Chief Technical Advisor to the Supervisor of the Elections. Towards end of 2008 it became obvious that no elections would be held by March 2009.

The National Council for Building a Better Fiji continued the preparations and national consultations on the Peoples' Charter for Change, Peace and Progress and the Report on the State of the Nation and Economy. The Charter and the Report were submitted to the President and approved by him in December 2008. The PCCPP supplemented by the Report represent the policy document of the interim Government for the way forward.

The economy grew in 2008 by 1.2% with a budget deficit of 1.5% of GDP. The National Budget 2009 is based on a projected growth rate of 2.2% with fiscal deficit of 3%. At the end of November 2008 the official reserves were around FJD824.7 million, sufficient to cover 3.1 months of imports. The annual rate of inflation stood at 7.7% at the end of 2008, as compared to 4.4% in 2007.

The trade balance for year 2008 was negative with FJD 2,130M (€910M). Exports amounted to FJD1,471M (€629M) and the imports to FJD3,601M(€1,539M). The trade deficit 2007 amounted to FJD1680M (€718M). Fiji together with PNG initialled the interim EPA in late 2007 with the view of completing the negotiations on the comprehensive EPA by end of 2008. This did not eventuate and the interim EPA was still being fine-tuned for signature at the end of 2008. Following an inspection mission by the European Food and Veterinary Office in 2007, Fiji was eliminated from the list of third countries eligible to export fish and fishery products to European Markets. A project put in place by the Competent Authority to remedy the situation was supported by technical assistance from the EC funded Special Fisheries Programme.

35% of the population live in poverty as measured in terms of Basic Needs Poverty Line. With the global economic meltdown the poverty incidence in Fiji is expected to widen. Fiji's Human Development Index (HDI) is 0.762, with which Fiji ranks 92th amongst 117 countries.

The completion of the negotiations on the 10th EDF Country Support Strategy and National Indicative Programme (€30.2M) remained subjected to the appropriate measures enshrined in the Council Decision of 1st October, 2007. The programme implementation under the 9th EDF and of the 2006 Financing Agreement for Accompanying Measures for Sugar Reform Adaptation continued. In addition Fiji benefitted from grant awards from the European Initiative for Human Rights and Democracy thematic budget line.

Fiji benefits of several regional programmes implanted by the Pacific Islands Forum Secretariat and other regional bodies as well as of a few Intra- and All-ACP programmes.

The coordination with Member States is smooth and regular whereas the donor coordination takes place on needs and ad-hoc basis.

2. OVERVIEW OF POLITICAL AND ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT

2.1. Political Development

The European Union concluded that the military coup of December 2006 demonstrated a breach of Article 8 of the Cotonou Agreement, and began consultations with the interim Government in accordance with the procedure described in Article 96 of the Agreement, and with Article 37 of the Development Cooperation Instrument. Deriving from this consultation process the interim Government made commitments to the European Union on maintenance of human rights, rule of law and return to constitutional democracy. These commitments were formalised into a Council Decision on 18 April 2007. In addition, the European Council adopted appropriate measures in order to enforce the adherence to the commitments made (Council Decision of 1st October 2007) which, inter alia, subjected the disbursement of the Accompanying Measures to Sugar Trade Reform and finalisation of the 10th EDF Country Support Strategy to the progress in return to democratic ruling. The finalisation and approval of the 10th EDF Country Support Strategy remained suspended at the end of 2008. The 2007 sugar allocation was zero, and the 2008 allocation had not been made available during 2008.

A high-level Troika comprising the EU Presidency (Slovenia), the European Council and the European Commission conducted a mission to Fiji in June 2008 followed by a Rule-of-Law mission in July. From 28 November to 1 December, 2008, a delegation from the European Parliament's Committee on Development visited the Republic of the Fiji Islands on a fact-finding mission. The delegation noted that it had been two years since the military took power and established the interim Government. It also noted that the commitment of the interim Government to enable free and fair elections by March 2009 would not be honoured. The delegation was also unable to confirm that credible and timely preparations for elections were underway, a condition which is necessary for the resumption of financial support from the European Union to the Fijian economy.

During the year the National Council for Building a Better Fiji (NCBBF) prepared the People's Charter for Change, Peace and Progress, whose objectives are to promote the evolution to a non-racial society, fight corruption and create an enabling environment for economic growth. The Charter details the required changes to the system of government, constitution, laws, economic and resources development policies, community relations, and institutional reforms. The interim Government invited a broad representation to participate in the work of the NCBBF. However, some political parties, in particular those which had formed the former government, the Methodist, Hindu and Muslim religious organisations and some NGOs turned down the invitation. The 34 members of the total 40 member NCBBF represented civil society and community organizations and private sector, in addition to Ministers from the interim Government. The NCBBF was co-chaired by the interim Prime Minister and Archbishop of the Catholic Church. On June 24, 2008, the NCBBF made a number of recommendations, which included, abolishing communal electoral rolls, and replacing them with proportional representation, abolishing compulsory voting, reducing the voting age to 18, and new anti-discrimination laws.

On August 6th 2008, the draft Charter document was released to the public and meetings were held in public venues, and the Charter was advertised in the media. There were consultations by public relations teams at grassroots level in all the villages and settlements throughout the country. The Charter was finally approved by the President in December 2008, and it will now be implemented by the interim government, which is committed to implementing electoral reforms before holding an election.

2.2. Economic Development

The impact of the global financial crisis on Fiji will be via the impact on its major trading partner economies, which will lower the demand for exports and reduce financial inflows. Any slowdown in tourism would impact on the wholesale and retail trade, hotels and restaurant sector and the air transport sector. Also a reduction in remittance flows could suppress consumption expenditure. Similarly, lower financial flows (particularly FDI) could lead to a decline in investment, especially in the building and construction sectors. Thus, domestic demand may be affected as a result of the global financial crisis and it is likely the crisis will have some impact on Fiji's growth prospects.

The Fijian economy is largely agricultural, with sugar being an important part, accounting for 22 per cent of its exports, constituting 8 percent of GDP and employing around 200,000 people either directly or indirectly. Economic growth for 2008 is now forecast at 1.7 percent, compared to a decline of 6.6% in 2007. The downward revisions to growth forecasts were mainly due to developments in the sugar industry, whose production levels in 2008 were negatively affected by Cyclone Gene.

At the end of November 2008, official reserves were around $824.7 million, sufficient to cover 3.1 months of imports of goods. The average annual rate of inflation for the 12 months to December 2008, stood at 7.7%, compared to 4.4% in 2007 .

In the medium term managing the macro-economy will require fiscal discipline to keep the growth in operating expenditures below the growth of operating revenues, careful debt management, public sector reforms to strengthen efficiency and accountability, and improvements in the investment climate to encourage private sector development.

It is in the real economy that the Government of Fiji faces its greatest medium and long term challenges. Its long term strategy depends too heavily on reversing the long term decline of the sugar industry and facing the challenges of the loss of preferential access to the EU market. Increased milling efficiency and field productivity, accelerated cane replanting, improved infrastructure, mechanisation and measures to accelerate cogeneration and ethanol production are all necessary, but are not likely to offset the loss of the protected EU market and competition from lower cost producers.

Fiji has also been negatively affected by the abolition of the Multi Fibre Arrangement (MFA), which gave local producers privileged access via quotas to developed economy markets. Exports of garments have halved since the concessions were removed in 2005, and although there is potential for growth through the exploitation of niche markets, competition from China and other Asian producers with remain severe.

The underperformance of the private sector combined with less than impressive export earnings suggest the need for economic reform packages to address issues of greater efficiency and competitiveness. Government needs to create an enabling environment that provides adequate incentives for efficient and competitive industries to emerge, and that allows the capabilities to be developed to ensure the growth of a dynamic private sector. In the medium to longer term issues relating to the increasing land utilisation and rural development will need to be addressed, in addition to issues related to developments in the tourism sector.

The country has a National Disaster Management Committee and a National Disaster Management Office in the Ministry of Defence, which is responsible for mitigating the impact of natural disasters on both the population and the economy.

Science and Technology

The University of the South Pacific at Suva, founded in 1968, has schools of agriculture and pure and applied science. Other institutions of higher education are the Fiji College of Agriculture at Nausori, and the Fiji Institute of Technology and the Fiji School of Medicine, both at Suva. The major learned societies are the Fiji Society, concerned with subjects of historic and scientific interest to Fiji and other Pacific islands, and the Fiji Medical Association, both in Suva.

2.3. Trade

Total imports for 2008 were 3,601.4 million FJD(€1,539M), compared with imports for 2007, which were 2,890.1 million FJD(€1,235.1M), an increase of 23%. Goods and merchandise imports consist of mineral fuels and oils, machinery and equipment, manufactured goods and food.

Category	Value (FJD million)	% of Total value of Imports	% Change Between 2007 and 2008
Foods	520.0	14.0	31.9
Mineral Fuels	1222.1	34.0	27.5
Chemicals	274.5	8.0	25.6
Manufactured Goods	739.4	21.0	11.2
Machinery & Equipment	726.5	19.0	27.7
Others	29.2	4.0	61.0
TOTAL	3601.4		23.0

The main sources of imports are Singapore for mineral fuels and oil, and Australia and New Zealand for manufactured goods and food.

Turning to exports, the total exports amounted to 1,471.0 million FJD (€628.6M), compared to total exports of 1,209.8 million FJD (€517.0M) in 2007, an increase of 21.6%.

The major exports are food (mainly sugar), manufactured goods which are mainly textiles, and the re-export of petroleum products to other Pacific Islands. Food and manufactured good are exported to the UK, USA, Australia, New Zealand and Japan.

Category	Value (FJD million)	% of Total value of Exports	% Change Between 2007 and 2008
Food	523.4	36.0	26.6
Beverages and Tobacco	125.2	9.0	5.6
Manufactured Goods	113.8	8.0	1.3
Re-Exports (petroleum products)	488.2	33.0	128.0
Others	220.4	14.0	(14.4)
TOTAL	1471.0		21.6

In December 2007, Fiji together with PNG initialled an interim Economic Partnership Agreement (I-EPA) with the European Union, safeguarding its future sugar exports to the EU with an increased quota of 30,000 mt in 2008/2009. The Interim EPA covers goods only with improved Rules of Origin and aimed at concluding the full EPA by end of 2008. Under the I-EPA Fiji will liberalise its market access for European products. European Union in turn opened its markets for the Fijian products in January 2008.

2.4. Poverty

35% of all population lives in poverty measured in terms of Basic Needs Poverty Line (BSPL) with variation of 44% of rural Indo-Fijians to 24% in the cohort of "rural/other ethnicity". Geographically the poverty incident reaches 53% in the Western Division as compared to 26% in the Central Division.

2.5. Governance

A Governance Analytical Matrix was established for Fiji in 2006 in preparation for the 10th European Fund programming period. Following the events of December 2006, the political dialogue with the interim Government has been guided by the commitments made by the interim government to the European Union (Council Decision of 18th April 2007).

Fiji's Human Development Index (HDI), is 0.762, which gives the country a rank of 92nd out of 177 countries with data. The HDI ranking has steadily declined since 1996 when it was ranked 44th. Poverty and inequality continue to be a major challenge and at least 12% of the population live in informal settlements. Land tenure challenges and the expiry of land leases are major contributors to the increasing size of these settlements in urban areas, which pose a significant social and economic challenge to development. In order to combat the increase in poverty the Government of Fiji poverty alleviation programmes for 2008 focused on ensuring that the poor and disadvantaged have better access to education and training, social welfare schemes, finance and credit, and improved social services and physical infrastructure.

2.6. Budget Support

The EC has encouraged the country to continue the preparations for budget support, and it is planned to assess the Public Finance Management based on the Performance Measurement Framework of the PEFA (Public Expenditure and Financial Accountability) that has been developed by the World Bank, the IMF, the European Commission and other donors. This will assist the EC and other stakeholders to assess the government's eligibility for budgetary support.

2.7. Coordination and Cooperation

None of the EU Member States operates any major development activities in Fiji. Apart from EC support the key donors are Australia, New Zealand, Japan and China, as well as the development banks (World Bank and ADB). Australia is active in the education sector, where it provides policy support, equipment and material and a scholarship programme. The EDF funded Fiji Education Programme works in coordination with the AUSAid funded programme. NZAid provides an envelope of NZD 7.2M (€3.1M) over 2007/2009. The aid focuses on governance, vulnerability to poverty, health and customs.

External aid is managed by the "Aid Coordinating Committee". An Aid Unit, attached to the Ministry of Finance is the secretariat responsible for coordinating all requests for external aid. The effectiveness of the Aid Unit is constrained by inadequate staffing levels. Currently, only four of its nine established posts are filled, and one of its existing staff members has been temporarily moved to another section.

Relations between the EC and the deputy NAOs have been close and constructive and the level of cooperation is generally good. The deputy NAOs are involved in preparation and implementation of all EC cooperation, both at NIP and project level. The fact that the functions of the NAO are being performed by the staff of the Aid Unit office ensures a degree of co-ordination with the activities of other donors. There is a need for the government to reintroduce the Donor Co-ordination Consultations (or Donor Roundtable), as the last meeting was held in 2004. It has been holding annual meetings with Australia and New Zealand to discuss development issues, but meetings with other donors are only held on an ad-hoc basis.

The international development partners meet occasionally and on an informal basis. The trade officials of the Delegation, Australian and New Zealand High Commission meet for monthly lunches. Similarly the officials in charge of the political file from the EU member states meet for monthly updates as well as the deputies of Australian, British, New Zealand High Commission, French Embassy and the Delegation. The Paris Declaration on Aid Effectiveness and Donor Harmonisation is not currently being proactively pursued in Fiji.

Apart from programme based meetings with non-state actors and local authorities in the context of the thematic budget line programmes and given the particular circumstances in Fiji, the Delegation meets on an ad-hoc bases with different civil society actors.

3. OVERVIEW OF THE PAST AND ONGOING CO-OPERATION

3.1. Financial Performance

Aggregate global commitments at the end of 2008 were euro 26,222,078, and secondary commitments were euro 23,235,241, whilst payments were euro 13,024,953. The delays experienced by the Fiji Education Sector Programme, resulted in it only having spent euro 11,376,339 by the end of 2008. Consequently the NAO requested that both the operational period of the financing agreement and period of execution of the programme estimate be extended until the end of November 2010.

3.2. Projects and Programmes in the Focal and Non Focal Areas

Revision of the draft CSP 10th EDF was continued in 2008 but its finalization remains subjected to the appropriate measures embodied in the Council Decision of 1st October 2007.

The Fiji Education Sector Programme (FESP; 9th EDF; €21 M) objective is to achieve equitable access, participation and achievement in life-long education for disadvantaged communities in Fiji and improve educational quality and outcomes. The programme concentrates on education priorities in rural and in disadvantaged urban areas and on complementary activities such as: infrastructure development (classrooms, teachers' quarters, libraries and laboratories, water, sanitation, electricity and communications); training at various levels; community non-formal education programmes; strengthening the Ministry of Education (MoE) and the Ministry of Youth (MOY) and capacity building of Non-State Actors (NSA). The project is managed by a Project Management Unit, headed by an internationally recruited Director, and the Non State Actor component is also managed by a PMU located at the NAO's office, also with an internationally recruited Director.

The infrastructural component targeted 300 schools that would either receive new buildings or rehabilitation of existing structures as well as water and electricity. By the end of 2008, 88 schools have had works completed for new buildings or extensive renovations whilst an additional 40 schools had work on-going. Delays were experienced following the 2006 coup and also problems with tenders, contractors and supervisors were experienced. Consequently the NAO requested an extension to both the project financing agreement and the final programme estimate so as to allow all the targeted schools to benefit from the project interventions.

The project has achieved tangible results with the provision of training for TVET on competency based assessment, the provision of school diaries to all secondary and high schools in 2007 and 2008, the provision of library resources and laboratory equipment, the provision of photocopying and duplication equipment, the provision of physical education equipment and school furniture. Solar power equipment for 38 schools have been procured in 2008 and will be installed shortly.

A separate NSA Programme Estimate was signed on August 16th 2007, which effectively set up the new NSA Programme Management Unit within the office of the NAO. Implementation of activities to date has resulted in the award of grant contracts to 25 NSAs that are working to promote education and training with the view to secure formal and informal employment for youth and adults. Furthermore, as a result of another Call for Proposals, 3 NSAs were awarded contracts for the installation of water and sanitation systems and other minor infrastructure works in 29 schools across the country. A Monitoring & Evaluation exercise concluded that a good number of NSAs were able to effectively undertake their project and manage their budgets.

Fiji Solid Waste – Lami Dump Rehabilitation (9th EDF; €2.7 M). Following Fiji's eligibility to FLEX support, it was decided to use the B-envelope (€2,100,000) and the remaining uncommitted funds of the 9th EDF for rehabilitation of this environmentally risky waste depot. The tender for the recruitment of Technical Assistance was launched in October 2008.

Technical Cooperation Facility (9th EDF; €1.1 M). The remaining funds, approximately €400,000 after closure of some ongoing contracts, are being used to provide short-term technical assistance to the NAO's office starting from the second half of 2008 until mid-November 2009, and to carry out a feasibility and identification study to the Water & Sanitation sector in preparation for the interventions under the 10th EDF.

National Initiative for Civic Education (NICE; 9th EDF; €0.8 M). The Contribution Agreement with UNDP was signed on 13 December 2007 and the programme management unit started its operations during the second quarter of 2008. A stakeholder meeting held on the 18th September 2008, endorsed a Community Civic Education Framework, which covers areas such as democracy, human rights and governance which will form the basis of a Civic Education Curriculum for Fiji, that will be developed by NICE and its Civil Society Organisation partners. NICE commissioned a Perception Index Study which was conducted by University of the South Pacific. The study confirmed that the people of Fiji view civic education and information on democracy as important, and that the majority support democracy and its institutions and are willing to participate in elections.

3.3. Other Co-operation

Sugar. Fiji's financial envelope for the sugar assistance, including the 2006 initial contribution, amounts to €64,026 million broken down to annual allocations as follows:

Year	2006	2007	2008	2009	2010	Total
Allocation	4,038,000	0	8,000,000	24,009,000	28,015,000	64,062,000

The Sugar Multi-Annual Indicative Programme (MIP) 2008-2010 was approved by DCI committee on 11 July 2008. Annual Action Plan (AAP) 2008 was approved by DCI on 23 October 2008, but incorporates a suspension clause subject to conditions stipulated in the Council Decision of 1st October 2007. In the beginning of the year payments on 2006 sugar envelope were subjected to progress on the political front but were later released for regular commitments and disbursements.

During 2008, the Accelerated Cane Replanting Programme suffered delays due to the adverse weather conditions during the planting season. A total of 2,583 hectares out of the target 3,500 had been replanted by the end of 2008. While the programme has initially experienced a slow response from the farmers, the demand has increased significantly over the year. Support was also provided to the Sugar Research Institute in the form of vehicles and equipment. The first hot water treatment unit was established by the Sugar Research Institute in order to sterilise sugar cane seeds from any contaminants. SRIF has conducted weekly meetings on technology transfer in 36 sectors. A survey on 250 farmers was conducted to assess farmers' needs. In 2008, an Economic Viability Study was conducted. The study concluded that even under the best case scenario which implies a reduction of the cane production to 2.3 mt from 4.2mt targeted in the findings of the STM study, the industry would still operate at a loss in the range of F$ 25m.annually. The Programme Management Unit established at the Sugar Commission of Fiji in Lautoka, continued to manage the interventions.

Elections. The Chief Technical Advisor to the Supervisor of Elections took up his duties on 14 July 2008. The CTA is the first TA deployment under the EUR730.000 financial envelope under the Instrument for Stability. Since there is no roadmap nor date for the elections, no further technical support has been deployed neither has the iG requested for any. For the same reason the upgraded Concept Note which proposed increasing the financial support to EUR1.8 million, was not processed to a decision. It is likely that the contract of the CTA will be extended provided the interim Government requests for extension.

Exports of fishery products to EU: DG SANCO conducted in July 2007 an Inspection mission to Fiji to evaluate the control systems in place governing the production of fishery products intended for export to EU markets. Since the findings presented serious deficiencies and failed to meet Community requirements, DG SANCO decided to proceed to a Commission Decision to de-list Fiji from the list Annex II of Regulation (EC) 2076/2005. The EC Regulation de-listing Fiji entered into force on 21 May 2008. Technical assistance to the Competent Authority has been provided by SFP (Special Fisheries Programme) and DEVFISH. The Competent Authority is aiming at one compliant supply chain before it will invite the FVO mission to the country. This is now provisionally scheduled for June 2009.

EIB The European Investment Bank (EIB) signed a €24.5M loan agreement in November 2006, with the Fiji Electricity Authority (FEA) to finance a 38MW hydro power plant at Nadarivatu. Contracts for the construction work were signed in November 2008. The hydro power plant aims to replace the FEA's use of diesel generation by 2012. The EIB-subsidised loan is financing half the total project cost of €49m. The project is being co-financed by the Asian Development Bank and the World Bank.

INTRA - ACP PROJECT: TACKLE (TACKLING CHILD LABOUR THROUGH EDUCATION)

The Financing Agreement for the intra ACP project Tackling Child Labour through Education (TACKLE) was signed on 13 December 2007 allocating a sum of 1.068.850 Euro for Fiji alone. The Partnership Protocol was signed on 29 May 2008 between the Delegation and the International Labour Organization to begin implementation. Management positions have been filled. A Child Labour Committee comprising key government partners such as the Ministry of Labour, Industrial Relations & Employment, Local Government, Urban Development and Housing and the Ministry of Education, National Heritage, Culture and Arts, Youth and Sports with civil society key partners has been established to implement planned activities. In December, a three day National Child Labour Forum was organised which brought together key middle to senior level policy makers from Government Ministries, civil society partners (already involved in skills building), local media and other social partners to discuss, exchange information and plan to implement activities for 2009. The recruitment process for a policy expert to review the current legislative and policy framework is under way.

REGIONAL PROGRAMMES

The PRIDE (Pacific Regional Initiatives for the Delivery of Basic Education) PMU provided technical assistance in the form of a resource person on a Library subproject No. Fij_010 Teacher/Librarian Train the Trainers workshop held in the last quarter of 2008.

Fiji participated in a capacity building workshop organised by PRIDE with the coordinators of subprojects on the M&E requirements, particularly on the progress/completion reports and acquittals. This workshop was held in the last quarter of 2008.

Altogether in 2008, PRIDE supported Fiji in the implementation of 10 subprojects. They cover the development of ECE curriculum Guidelines, establishment of distance education centres, implementation of the language policy and review of the education act. The majority of sub-projects focused on capacity building of various education personnel, community leaders, school heads, education leaders and school librarians.

BUDGET LINES/THEMATIC PROGRAMMES:

A Call for Proposals was launched in Fiji on 14 July 2008 under the European Instrument for Democracy and Human Rights which will result in the award of a number of grant contracts in early 2009. There have been a small number of other grant projects operating in Fiji under thematic programmes in 2008, most notably two projects implemented by Live and Learn Environmental Education, 'Governing Water' and 'Imagining Tomorrow'.

4. POLICY COHERENCE FOR DEVELOPMENT

Fiji benefits from the Pacific Regional Economic Integration Programme (PACREIP) which through its six components facilitates and supports trade negotiations, legislative and regulatory harmonisation and regional cooperation in economic areas. Beside PACREIP, Fiji benefits from a trade policy adviser financed through the Trade.com facilities and based in the Fiji Ministry for Industry, Tourism, Trade and Communication.

The Lami Dump Rehabilitation project under the 9th EDF will continue the environmental strategy of 8th EDF CSP. Water and Sanitation is proposed as a focal sector under the 10th EDF CSP.

Fiji has been eligible to export fish to Europe and was included in the Annex II of the Regulation (EC) 2076/2005 regarding imports of fishery products to Europe. Following the negative outcomes of the inspection mission in July 2007, Fiji was excluded from the Annex II list. The Delegation has given proactive support to the Competent Authority and sector stakeholders in remedying the situation and in getting Fiji back to the eligible countries list.

Sugar is together with tourism and remittances the major source of foreign currency earning for Fiji. The Commission is supporting the revitalisation efforts of the sector through the Accompanying Measures to the Reform of the Sugar Trade Regime. Pillar II of the National Adaptation Strategy and EC Multi-annual Programme focus on agricultural diversification in an effort to broaden the commercial agriculture base.

Good governance and non-state actors are supported through several projects funded by Community Thematic Budget Lines and EDF (FESP, NICE).

Looking into the internal coordination on political aspects, the EU Troika meets regularly and the spirit of the meetings is constructive.

14. Real GDP per capita and annual change FJD			5033 (6.2%)	5474 (9.7%)
15. Access of rural population to an all season road <sup>1</sup>
16. Household electrification rate

<sup>1</sup> There are two main approaches to measuring this indicator: (a) household surveys that include information about access to transport, and (b) mapping data to determine how many people live within the specified catchments of the road network. A possible source of information for DEL, alternative to Gov, would be the WB (limited to 31 IDA countries).

Explanation:

Compared to previous years, 6 new indicators have been added, providing additional information on the modernisation and economic growth process. These indicators are based on a set of indicators harmonised between the EC, The World Bank and the African Development Bank for measuring performance at the country level.

Data may be collected from various sources such as in-country PRSP performance assessment frameworks, Doing Business Report (World Bank), for macro-economic data IMF, data from in-country sector reviews or other sector monitoring, etc. Quality of data should be assessed and point out where time series are not entirely comparable over time. Where data are not available state n/a.

Vulnerability to the Global Crisis

1. Five of the Pacific economies—Federated States of Micronesia, Kiribati, Marshall Islands, Palau and Tuvalu—have substantial public savings invested in offshore equity markets that bore a large decline in market value in 2008. The impact of this decline can however be deferred, by allowing public saving funds to deplete earlier than originally planned. This appears to be the response to-date, such that there has been little immediate impact on economic activity from the decline in offshore equity markets. The deterioration in offshore capital markets has resulted in the loss of some large investment projects, and in some Pacific economies an increase in the cost of funds and a tightening in the availability of credit.
2. The main immediate impacts from the global financial and economic crisis have, however, been via the collapse of commodity markets. The Pacific's commodity exporters—Papua New Guinea, Solomon Islands and Timor-Leste—bore a decline in commodity prices and then, most notably for the Solomon Islands, in volumes. Papua New Guinea and Timor-Leste have accumulated sufficient public savings and economic momentum through the commodity boom to support their economies over 2009 and into 2010. Solomon Islands however lacks this cushion and is facing severe economic conditions now that logging activity is falling.
3. Of the other Pacific economies, out-of country data point to a small, overall impact in 2008 from the slowdown in the global real economy. The trends are nonetheless clearly negative. Australian tourism to the Pacific held up over 2008, while New Zealand numbers eased slightly over 2008 but only very late in the year. Tourism departures to the Pacific from Asia and the US fell by the order of 10% over 2008, with a downward trend apparent from early 2008. A similar pattern is apparent in employment within these neighboring economies; i.e., US employment fell early in 2008, New Zealand employment declined markedly late in the year with Australia the last major job market to weaken. These employment trends suggest that downward pressure on remittances to the Pacific built over 2008, but may only become noticeable in 2009.
4. For the non-commodity Pacific economies, the northern economies are likely to be the first to see the adverse impact of the slowdown in the global real economy. Palau in particular has already shown the exposure resulting from a dependence on Asian tourism. The southern economies of Cook Islands, Samoa and Tonga are likely to follow, given they have the strongest links with New Zealand. The Fiji Islands and Vanuatu are likely to be the next economies to weaken, as they have the relatively strongest links with the Australian real economy.
5. Over time, structural issues can be expected to become more important in determining the impact of the global financial and economic crisis. Those with the deepest structural weaknesses, particularly on the fiscal side, may well bear the largest impacts as they will find it hard to adjust to the external deterioration. Kiribati and Tuvalu for example need to adjust their fiscal position to match the decline in the offshore value of their investments. The longer this adjustment is deferred, the greater the overall impact is likely to be.
6. Lags and the beneficial impact of lower oil prices mean that economic activity is likely to generally be firmer in the first half of 2009 than in the second half of 2009. Even if the global economy turns around in 2009, lags mean that the adverse impacts of the global crisis are likely to be most intense in 2010 (in the absence of a strong policy response). Table 1 presents a preliminary, summary assessment of the vulnerability of the Pacific Island economies to the global crisis.
