Proposal for a

COUNCIL REGULATION

amending for the third time Regulation (EC) No 850/98 of 30 March 1998 for the conservation of fishery resources through technical measures for the protection of juveniles of marine organisms

(presented by the Commission)

EXPLANATORY MEMORANDUM

On 30 March 1998 the Council of Ministers adopted Council Regulation (EC) No 850/98 for the conservation of fishery resources through technical measures for the protection of juveniles of marine organisms. After this regulation was adopted and published it became apparent that a number of data and developments brought to the Commission's attention should be incorporated into the regulation:

- a) the area where and the time-period during which spawning of so-called Douglas Bank herring takes place has changed;
- b) the need for specific provisions on the use of Danish seine in the so-called plaice box had been overlooked;
- c) the conditions agreed within the Agreement for the International Dolphin Conservation Program make it acceptable to under certain conditions use purse seines on schools of fish found in association with marine mammals;
- d) the differences in maximum body size for two species of spotted dogfish necessitate a revision of the appropriate mesh size for fixed gears for each of these species.

The enclosed proposal for a Council Regulation attempts to incorporate these data and developments by means of amending Regulation (EC) No 850/98.

Proposal for a

COUNCIL REGULATION

amending for the third time Regulation (EC) No 850/98 of 30 March 1998 for the conservation of fishery resources through technical measures for the protection of juveniles of marine organisms

THE COUNCIL OF THE EUROPEAN UNION,

Having regard to the Treaty establishing the European Community, and in particular Article 43 thereof,

Having regard to the proposal from the Commission¹,

Having regard to the opinion of the European parliament²,

Having regard to the opinion of the Economic and Social Committee³,

Whereas the area where and the time-period during which spawning of a certain herring stock has changed; whereas, therefore, the special provisions relating to fishing in said area and during said time-period have to be changed;

Whereas Article 29 contains a number of exemptions for the use of specific fishing gears; whereas these exemptions should apply equally to the gear-type Danish seine; whereas, as an oversight, exemptions for this gear were not originally included in that Article; whereas, therefore, Danish seine should be included among the exemptions of Article 29;

Whereas Article 33 prohibits the use of purse seines on schools of fish found in association with marine mammals; whereas such use would be acceptable in the case of fishing vessels operating under the conditions agreed within the Agreement for the International Dolphin Conservation Program, which the Community has decided to apply provisionally by Decision ...; whereas, therefore, an exemption clause to that effect should be added to Article 33;

Whereas Annex VI establishes categories of mesh sizes for fixed gears to be used for catching certain species or groups of species; whereas in the light of data made
