PRESS RELEASE

Common market for olive oil to take effect on November 10.

The date at which the common market for olive oil will come into effect has been postponed from November 1 to November 10, 1966. The EEC Commission bases this decision on the need to allow member States a reasonable period of time for ensuring that the implementing measures are effectively applied. The EEC Council of Ministers took final decisions on the last of these measures only on October 27, and allowance must be made for the holiday period (All Saints) at the beginning of November.
