ANN POLYA-RAMSEY

B10
Book

The Deputy Head of the New York Press and Information Office of the EC Delegation to the United States is Ann Polya-Ramsey.

Ms. Polya-Ramsey was with the Commission of the EC for five years in Brussels, where she specialised in the European agricultural policy.

After Brussels Ms. Polya-Ramsey worked as a trade consultant to a Japanese Trading Co. in Japan, where she lived for a year and a half.

Ms. Polya-Ramsey moved to the U.S. in early 1979, and was, until recently, a news analyst for a large brokerage firm, headquartered in New York.

As a British citizen, she is a Business Administration graduate of Middlesex Polytechnic, and has a Masters degree in European Politics from the University of Strasbourg, France. In addition to fluent French and German, Ms. Polya-Ramsey also speaks elementary Japanese. She is a keen sportswoman and has played in International Squash tournaments.

February 1980.
