1 1996 Monthly

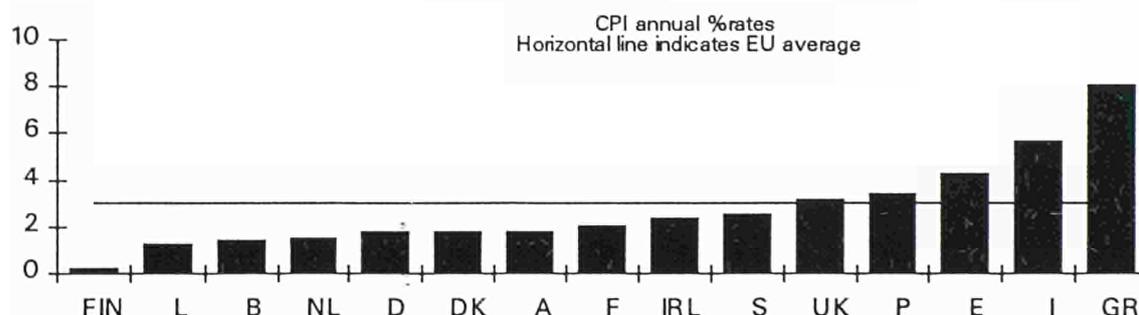

PRICES: EU ANNUAL INFLATION STABLE AT 3.0% IN DECEMBER

The annual inflation rate for the EU as a whole remained unchanged 3.0% during the last three months. A year ago, in December 1994, the corresponding rate was also 3.0%. It stood at 5.7% in 1990, 4.7% in 1991, 3.6% in 1992 and 3.4% in 1993 (December of each year in relation to December the previous year). The figures show clearly that inflation in the EU has fallen steadily over the last six years.

The monthly index rose by 0.2% between November and December. As usually, the variation between these two last months was in general very small; some Member States show a decline in their index : Denmark, Austria and Finland (-0.1%), Portugal (-0.2%), Sweden (-0.3%) and the Netherlands (-0.4%). The Belgian index is unchanged. Slight increases are reported in France and Luxembourg (0.1%), Italy (0.2%), Germany and Spain (0.3%); furthermore, the index of the United Kingdom increased by 0.6% and that of Greece by 1.0% in December.

In ascending order of current inflation, the annual rates of the Member States for December 1995 and those for the corresponding period of 1994 are as follows :

	December 1995 December 1994	December 1994 December 1993		December 1995 December 1994	December 1994 December 1993

The corresponding rates for some other countries are : Canada 1.8%, Japan -0.5%, Iceland 2.0%, Norway 2.2% and Switzerland 1.9%. (U.S.A. : not available).

* The rates for Germany are those for the whole country, including the new "Länder" and East-Berlin. For technical reasons the data for Germany at Table 1 on page 4 continue to reflect price trends in the old "Länder" only.

EXPLANATORY NOTES

METHODOLOGY

The consumer price indices given here are the non-harmonised national indices which have different names in each country*. As far as trends are concerned, the general index published by EUROSTAT always corresponds to the general index published by the country. The component items of this general index are groups of national indices aggregated according to a harmonised classification conforming to the ESA (European System of Integrated Economic Accounts). For these groups, the price trends correspond to the trends noted by the national indices for the same classification field. The field covered by the general index varies according to country; as regards the population concerned (specific income bracket, certain socio-professional categories or total households), the geographical areas used (capital, urban areas, country as a whole, etc.) or method for seasonal adjustments. A fixed system is used in some countries, whereas in others a chain system is used (variable weightings). The reference years used at national level for the indices vary according to country. For ease of comparison, EUROSTAT has chosen 1985 as the common year for the presentation of these indices.

* NB : It should be noted that the figures in this publication are based on national methodologies. Therefore they may not be fully comparable one with another. The Member States of the European Union are currently working on a harmonisation project.

THE CALCULATION OF THE EUR15 INDEX

The EUR15 index as calculated by EUROSTAT is a weighted average of national price indices. The weight used is the proportion of each country in the final consumption of households for EUR15. The values of this consumption in national currency are converted into purchasing power standard (PPS); for this purpose the purchasing power parities of the G.D.P. are used. Up to 1990 purchasing power parities are those which result from the 1990 enquiry, extrapolated by using the implicate price index from the national accounts. Starting from 1990 onwards the purchasing power parities are calculated each year. The index calculated is a chain index of the "Laspeyres" type with weights changing each year. However, the weights are lagged by two years since the national accounts data needed become available only after two years. For example, the weights used for 1995 are those of 1993, for 1994 those of 1992. Moreover, national accounts data are often revised leading to revisions of the consumption weights. In order to avoid continuous modifications in the EUR15 index for previous periods, EUROSTAT has decided to "freeze" the weights which are used. Thus the EUR15 index will not be affected by revisions of the national accounts. However when Member States carry out major revisions in the price series for past years, EUR15 data will be calculated using these new series.
