

ECS NEWSLETTER

Volume I, No. 1

Spring 1988

EDITORIAL

This is the first issue of the European Community Studies Association (ECSA) Newsletter. It will be published twice a year, in the spring and fall. Although the idea of the Newsletter predates the founding of ECSA, it represents part of the same scholarly initiative. This initiative goes back to May 1984 when a small group of scholars interested in the EC met for a one-day conference organized by Columbia University's Institute on Western Europe. At the conclusion of the conference, it was noted that support for and study of the EC was declining in North America and the suggestion was made and unanimously endorsed that every effort should be made to create an on-going forum for those interested in the EC.

In October 1985, a second and larger meeting was held in Washington, D.C. and in March 1987, a group of scholars met with officials of the Delegation of the Commission of the EC, also in Washington, and discussed ways of strengthening North American academic activities relating to the EC (including the idea of a newsletter). Subsequently, 25 scholars came together in Washington in October 1987 for the third European Community seminar/workshop sponsored by Columbia University's Institute on Western Europe and the University of South Carolina, with the support of the Delegation of the EC. At a special evening meeting, the newsletter project was unanimously approved and it was also decided to appoint a committee to investigate the possibilities of forming our own European Community Studies Association. This committee met on March 12, 1988 and worked out the principal details concerning structure, membership, goals, and activities of the Association and drafted a provisional Constitution for it. The members of the committee are: Desmond Dinan (George Mason), Roy H. Ginsberg (Skidmore), Leon Hurwitz (Cleveland State), Pierre-Henri Laurent (Tufts), Donald J. Puchala (South Carolina), and Glenda G. Rosenthal (Columbia).

The draft Constitution, reproduced on page 2, provides for the election of a five-person Executive Committee by the membership by mail ballot before the Association's Meeting in May 1989. Until that time, the interim committee will be responsible for the affairs of the Association and urges all those interested to join ECSA. Membership application and a mail ballot for the vote on the Constitution are found at the end of the Newsletter. The fall 1988 Newsletter will announce procedures for nominations by mail to serve on the Executive Committee for a two-year term. The May 1989 Association Meeting will also be the occasion of an academic conference with a program of panels and speakers. All those interested in participating in any capacity in the academic conference should contact any member of the committee. The fall 1988 Newsletter will provide information for submission of panel and paper proposals.

The Co-Editors of the Newsletter welcome submission of any news items for the Fall 1988 issue. Send material pertaining to Transatlantic News, Teaching News, and Publications-Research to Roy H. Ginsberg; material on Conferences-Workshops, Organizations-Institutes, and Fellowships-Awards to Glenda G. Rosenthal; and mailing lists-membership dues to Leon Hurwitz. ECSA's objectives and functions are set out in the Constitution. The committee welcomes any ideas for ECSA as it begins its first year. Now that the Association has been formed, all those involved in it look forward to its lively and active development.

CONSTITUTION OF THE EUROPEAN COMMUNITY STUDIES ASSOCIATION

PREAMBLE

To foster a critical understanding of the Member-States, historical development, institutions, processes, policies, programs, issues, and problems of the European Community (EC), The European Community Studies Association (The Association) is hereby constituted. The Association exists to develop a community of persons in North America interested in the EC and to raise the level of knowledge about the EC. The Association welcomes members from all academic disciplines, the business sector, and the public sector.

ARTICLE I. OBJECTIVES OF THE ASSOCIATION

The Association shall promote the study and public awareness of the EC in the following ways: facilitating research projects and other collaborative works among the Association members in order to increase the published literature on the EC; encouraging links between The Association and European counterpart associations and individual Europeans for the purpose of transatlantic cooperation; publishing a newsletter; holding conferences and workshops; organizing panels on the EC at conferences and workshops sponsored by other organizations; seeking and disbursing funds to support The Association's activities; drawing upon the membership to speak publicly on EC issues; and undertaking other programs, activities, and projects deemed appropriate.

ARTICLE II. MEMBERSHIP

Membership in the Association shall be open to all persons and institutions who have paid annual dues. Annual dues shall be established by the Executive Committee.

ARTICLE III. FINANCES

The Association shall collect and expend monies derived from membership dues and other sources. The Association shall seek and disburse funds by itself and in cooperation with other organizations.

ARTICLE IV. ORGANIZATIONAL STRUCTURE

The organs of The Association shall be an Executive Committee, an Advisory Council, an Editorial Board, and The Association Meeting. The officers of The Association shall be a Chairperson and a Secretary-Treasurer.

Section 1. Executive Committee

The five-person Executive Committee shall be elected by the membership and will serve a two-year term. The term of office is renewable but no member of the Executive Committee may serve more than two consecutive terms. The Executive Committee shall elect from its members the Chairperson and the Secretary-Treasurer. The Executive Committee shall be confirmed in office no later than May 31, 1989 at The Association Meeting after a mail poll of the membership.

Section 2. Advisory Council

The Advisory Council shall consist of distinguished individuals interested in the EC. Its members shall be invited to serve by the Executive Committee.

Section 3. Editorial Board

The Editorial Board shall be appointed by the Executive Committee and shall consist of no more than five members including the Editors.

Section 4. The Meeting

The Meeting shall be the plenary organ of The Association and shall be held no less than once every two years.

ARTICLE V. FUNCTIONS

The Executive Committee shall be responsible for achieving the objectives of The Association as contained in Article I. It shall appoint the Advisory Council, the Editorial Board and its Editor, a Nominating Committee, and all other committees it deems appropriate.

The Advisory Council shall assist the Executive Committee in achieving the objectives of the Association.

The Editorial Board shall compile, produce, and distribute all Association publications.

The Meeting shall affirm the election of The Association's officers and offer recommendations concerning The Association's activities.

The Chairperson shall conduct all meetings of the Executive Committee and The Association, shall be an ex officio member of the Advisory Council and shall submit regular reports on The Association's activities to the membership.

The Secretary-Treasurer shall receive and disburse funds to support The Association's activities and shall submit regular reports to The Association.

ARTICLE VI. VOTING PROCEDURES

All decisions shall be by simple majority vote.

ARTICLE VII. AMENDMENTS

The Executive Committee shall receive proposals for amendments from members. Amendments shall be ratified by The Association membership.

CONFERENCES AND WORKSHOPS

This section is intended to provide information on future meetings and on some past meetings. By including information on events in the recent past, we hope to provide an opportunity for readers who wish to follow up on a specific subject to do so.

EUROPEAN UNITY IN CONTEXT; 'MAKING THE NEW EUROPE?': THE PROBLEM OF EUROPEAN UNITY AND THE WORLD WAR

This international conference is being organized by the Department of European and Modern Dutch Studies of the University of Hull (UK) in late September 1988 with the support of the Leverhulme Trust. Papers will be given within the following broad areas:

I. The European Impact of National Socialism and Fascism: International Law -- Geopolitics and New Territorial Boundaries (defense and disarmament; states and national autonomy; neutrals, neutralism and the orbit of the powers; central Europe between East and West; Europe as a imperial power; Europe without the Anglo-Saxons; regions and regional identity) and Economic Perspectives (a new order; the restructuring of European business; new patterns of trade; autarky, capitalism and multinationals; towards an agricultural policy).

II. The New Unifiers: Shaping a New Politics (collaboration and the search for a "third way"; resistance, democracy and the birth of a new Europe; Communists and National Fronts; governments-in-exile and the problems of restoration; Christian politics, the churches and a new moral order; youth movements) and Planning for a Reconstructed Europe (critiques of capitalism; corporatism, planning and technocracy; towards welfarism; full employment, freedom and European cooperation; the presence of the super-powers and international realignment; the cultural challenge of the USA).

All those interested in wishing to contribute to this conference should write to: Dr. P.M.R. Stirk, Department of European and Modern Dutch Studies, University of Hull, HULL HU6 7RX UK.

THE UNITED STATES AND THE EUROPEAN COMMUNITY: CONVERGENCE OR CONFLICT?

A joint conference organized by the University of Amsterdam and the Institute on Western Europe, Columbia University, will be held in Amsterdam on November 14-16, 1988. Papers at this conference, intended to mark the beginning of an on-going relationship between the two universities, will be given by members of their political science, economics, history, international law, and European studies departments.

WORLD CONGRESS OF THE INTERNATIONAL POLITICAL SCIENCE ASSOCIATION

In 1988 political scientists from around the world will have the opportunity to participate in two scholarly meetings. APSA will be hosting for the first time the World Congress of the International Political Science Association. The 14th World Congress, whose theme is the "Globalization of Political Science," will be held in Washington from August 27 to September 1, 1988 (the week before the APSA Annual Meeting). The Research Committee on European Unification (Research Committee 3; Convenor Ghita Ionescu of LSE) is sponsoring at least three panels at the World Congress. The panel chairs will be Ghita Ionescu, Emile Noël and Klaus von Beyme. The Sheraton Washington will be the headquarters for the World Congress. It is within convenient walking distance of the Washington Hilton, headquarters of the APSA Annual Meeting.

UNIVERSITY NEWS IN A EUROPEAN PERSPECTIVE

A conference of representatives of European journals of higher education was held in Viterbo, Italy on November 11-14, 1987. The goal of the conference was to introduce a European dimension into national journals dealing with higher education and university news. The participants agreed to create a network of cooperating journals. For information, contact: "Universitas," Via Atto Tigri 5, 00197 ROME (Tel: 06 805-390).

EUROPEAN INTEGRATION IN THE TEXTBOOKS OF THE MEMBER STATES OF THE EC

A conference of historians and authors of textbooks was held in Berlin, April 4-9, 1988. For further information about the proceedings, contact: Gunther Renner, Berlin Europäische Akademie, Bismarckallee 46, 1000 BERLIN 33 (Tel: 030 826-2095).

THE EMERGING STATE OF THE INTERNAL MARKET

This meeting, under the auspices of UACES (University Association for Contemporary European Studies, UK), was held in London on April 15, 1988. UACES will also be sponsoring a conference on "Teaching European Law" at Exeter, July 11-12, 1988. For further information about both these meetings and about other activities of UACES, contact: Eva Evans, UACES Secretariat, King's College, Strand, LONDON WC2R 2LS (Tel: 1 240-0206).

THE MEDITERRANEAN REGION - SOUTHERN EUROPE: PROBLEMS AND PROSPECTS

This conference took place at the Graduate Center of the City University of New York, February 18-19, 1988. Organized by Henry Wasser (Center for European Studies, CUNY), the conference was made possible by a major grant from the German Marshall Fund of the US. Papers delivered included:

Geopolitics and the Western Mediterranean (Kenneth-Maxwell, Columbia);

Geopolitics and the Eastern Mediterranean (Harry Psomiades, CUNY-Queens College);

Integrated Mediterranean Programs (K. Barlebo-Larsen, Commission of the EC);

The IMP's Structural Adjustment Policy (George Yanopoulos, Reading);

Social Movements in Italy (Jane Schneider, CUNY Graduate School);

Spanish Universities in the Framework of the Mediterranean Region (R. Carreras, Barcelona);

Greek Universities and Research Policy (Henry Wasser);
Overview of Southern Europe: Spain and Portugal (Juan Linz, Yale); and

The Mediterranean Economies in the Third Wave of the Industrial Revolution (Panos Mourdoukoutas, C.W. Post).

WESTERN EUROPE: PAST PROBLEMS, PRESENT DILEMMAS, AND FUTURE SOLUTIONS

A symposium on contemporary European economic, political, social and security affairs was held at Columbia University's Institute on Western Europe on April 15-16, 1988. This was the 5th annual graduate student conference sponsored by the Institute and attracted over 20 papers submitted by graduate students in various social science disciplines from the Northeast, Washington, D.C., Michigan, Virginia and California.

THIRD ANNUAL CUNY - UNIVERSITY OF PAVIA CONFERENCE ON EUROPEAN UNITY

To be held at the University of Pavia on May 12-13, 1988. This is the third conference on European unity to be held under the joint sponsorship of the two universities. The inaugural conference took place in Pavia in 1986 and the second in New York in May 1987. Proceedings of the first two conferences have been published by the University of Pavia in their journal Il Politico.

All those interested should contact: Dr. Pasquale Scaramozzo, Editor, Il Politico, Redazione Presso la Facoltà di Scienze Politiche, Università di Pavia/Scuola Nuova 65, I-27100 PAVIA IT.

29TH ANNUAL CONVENTION OF THE INTERNATIONAL STUDIES ASSOCIATION

The ISA Convention, held March 29-April 2, 1988 in St. Louis, contained a panel on European Regional Organizations, chaired by Werner J. Feld (University of Colorado at Colorado Springs), and had the following papers:

The Revival of the WEU (Edelgard Mahant, Laurentian);

The Free Circulation of Physicians Within the EC (Leon Hurwitz, Cleveland State);

Franco-German Military Cooperation (Werner J. Feld); and Political Opposition in the EC (Carl Lankowski, SUNY-Albany).

HARVARD UNIVERSITY SEMINAR ON THE EUROPEAN COMMUNITY AND ATLANTIC RELATIONS

Under the auspices of co-chairs Lily Feldman (Tufts) and James Spence (Harvard Center for International Affairs and the European Parliament), the Seminar has undertaken an active program of weekly talks focusing on the EC from a European perspective. Speakers have included Lily Feldman, Pascal Lamy (Cabinet of EC Commission President Jacques Delors), Richard Cooper (Harvard), Alison Fortier (NSC), Piet Dankert (Vice President and Past President of the European Parliament), Samuel Wells (The Wilson Center), Pierre-Henri Laurent (Tufts), Sir Roy Denman (Head of the Delegation of the Commission of the EC to the US), Michael Caligaert (State Department), Angela Stent (Georgetown), and James Ellis (Member of the European Parliament).

UNIVERSITY OF NEBRASKA AT OMAHA EUROPEAN STUDIES CONFERENCE

The 13th Annual European Studies Conference, sponsored by the University of Nebraska at Omaha, will be held October 6-8, 1988. The meeting will be interdisciplinary with sessions devoted to the scholarly exchange of information, research methodologies and pedagogical approaches. Although abstracts of papers were to be submitted by March 15, 1988, all those interested in the conference should contact:

Bernard Kolasa, Political Science Coordinator (or) Louise Morgan, Conference Secretary, College of Continuing Studies, University of Nebraska at Omaha, Omaha, Nebraska 68182-0361

THE BROOKINGS INSTITUTION/EUROPEAN INSTITUTE OF PUBLIC ADMINISTRATION SEMINARS ON TRANSATLANTIC PROBLEMS

The Brookings Institution (Washington, D.C.) and the European Institute of Public Administration (Maastricht, NL) have organized a series of seminars in order to provide a common forum for discussions of transatlantic problems. The theme of the seminars was "Strains in US-EC Relations: Can We Restore Confidence?" The first seminar, attended by officials from the 12 EC states, the European Parliament, the EC Commission, ECOSOC and NATO, was held at Brookings in April 1987. The second seminar was held at the EIPA in October, was attended by US officials, and focused on EC institutions and policies. In view of the favorable reactions to the two meetings, EIPA and Brookings intend to organize similar seminars in 1988. For further details, contact:

Panos Tsakaloyannis, European Institute of Public Administration, Vrouweplein 22, NL-6211 MAASTRICHT NL

ARBEITSKREIS EUROPAISCHE INTEGRATION

A conference organized by Arbeitskreis Europäische Integration with the German-American Lawyers Association on "US-EC Relations" will be held in Bonn (June 9-11, 1988). For information, contact: Arbeitskreis Europäische Integration, Zitfelnstr. 22, 5300 BONN 1, FRG (Tel: 0228 238041).

The third annual congress of the European Economic Association will be held in Bologna (August 27-29, 1988). For information, contact: University of Bologna, Facoltà di Economia e Commercio, Piazza Scaravilli 2, 40125 BOLOGNA ITALY.

ORGANIZATIONS, INSTITUTES, AND COURSES

GRADUATE SCHOOL OF EUROPEAN AND INTERNATIONAL STUDIES, READING (UK)

The School, part of the University of Reading, offers M.A. programs in European Studies, International Studies, and Defense and Internal Security. Eleven different departments collaborate in the teaching and research program of the School which currently includes 32 courses over a wide range of disciplines. The interests of the School cover European integration issues, international relations, international economics, comparative studies, and European history. Full time courses last nine months and there are opportunities for research work leading to the degree of M. Phil. (two years) and Ph.D. (three years). Those interested should contact:

George N. Yannopoulos, Chair, Graduate School of European and International Studies, University of Reading, Whiteknights, P.O. Box 218, READING RG6 2AA UK.

EUROPA INSTITUTE, UNIVERSITY OF AMSTERDAM

An international post-graduate course in European integration, "Analysis of 30 Years of Experience in International Regional Integration: The EEC," will be held in Amsterdam from October 1988 to May 1989. The purpose of the course is to provide postgraduates in law and economics with a thorough understanding of the complex problems of European integration. The focus of teaching and research is on the European Community and the relationship with its members and with third states, including the developing countries. This multidisciplinary course is conducted in English and consists of two principal sections: law and economics. The annual academic program includes lectures and seminars on the following subjects: legal and economic aspects of European integration and its external relations; European economic integration -- both theoretical and applied; the European Monetary System and external economic relations; common market law; and political unification with special emphasis on the internal structures and dynamics of the EC. Candidates must be university graduates with at least a B.A. degree in law or economics or its equivalent. The application deadline is July 1, 1988. For further information, write to:

The Registrar of the International Course in European Integration ICEI, Europa Instituut of the University of Amsterdam, P.O. Box 19123, 1000 GC AMSTERDAM NL.

GRUPE DE LIAISON DES HISTORIENS AUPRES DES COMMUNAUTES/EUROPEAN COMMUNITY LIAISON COMMITTEE OF HISTORIANS

This relatively new organization, partially underwritten by the EC, is headquartered at the Université Catholique de Louvain. One of its principal activities of interest to North American scholars of the EC is the publication of a quarterly newsletter. The latest issue (December 1987) contains 40 pages of valuable information on conferences, publications, research resources and institutes, and courses. Beginning with the 1988 volume, the newsletter will be expanded to include original articles and summaries of dissertations (12-15 typewritten pages). For information, contact:

Michel Dumoulin, Unité d'Histoire Contemporaine, Université Catholique de Louvain, Collège Erasme, Place Blaise Pascal 1, B-1348 LOUVAIN-la-NEUVE, BELGIUM.

FONDATION ARCHIVES EUROPEENNES

The Fondation Archives Européennes was inaugurated on June 19, 1987 at the Palais Wilson in Geneva. This new institution, established under the aegis of the Institut Universitaire d'Etudes Européennes (Geneva), the Centre Européen de la Culture, and the Fondation Coudenhove-Kalergi, will not only be an archive collection but will also devote itself to research on the construction of Europe, activities promoting a united Europe, and coordination of work on federalism and cultural, economic and political initiatives in an overall European context. It will sponsor conferences, workshops, lectures, and exhibitions on these themes. The headquarters of the FAE is located at:

Villa Moynier, 122, rue de Lausanne, CH-1202 GENEVE 11 (Tel: 22 32-28-03). The archives themselves are located at: Chemin des Genêts, 16B, CH-1202 GENEVE SWITZERLAND (Tel: 22 33-60-40).

FELLOWSHIPS AND AWARDS

COUNCIL FOR EUROPEAN STUDIES PRE-DISSERTATION FELLOWSHIPS

The Council for European Studies has announced the winners of its annual Pre-Dissertation Fellowship Competition. The purpose of the Pre-Dissertation Fellowships is to enable graduate students in the social science disciplines to pursue short-term, exploratory research in Western or Southern Europe in order to determine the viability and to better define the scope of their proposed dissertation. The Fellowships, funded by the Ford Foundation, provide $2,500 for travel and living expenses. The following students were awarded Fellowships:

Peter Berg, economics, Notre Dame: "Vocational Training and Restructuring of Work in the United States and West German Automobile Industries";

Mary Mullen, anthropology, Duke: "Intersections and Conflicts between Ethnic Nationalism and Feminism: The Symbolic Geography of Gender Politics in Ireland";

Neil Bradford, political science, Carleton: "Re-Examining Territorial Politics in Small, Open Economies: A Comparative Analysis of Sweden and Canada";

Mark D. Harmon, political science, Yale: "International Constraints on Domestic Economic Autonomy: The Case of the French Socialist and British Labour Governments";

David Herrmann, history, Yale: "The European Land Arms Race, 1904-1914";

Gerd-Rainer Horn, history, Michigan: "The Rise of Fascism and the European Left: United Front Politics in Germany, Austria and France, 1933-1935";

Cynthia Irvin, political science, Duke: "Paramilitary Politics in Parliamentary Democracies: Shifting Strategies in Radical Nationalist Parties in Ireland and Spain";

Elizabeth Kier, government, Cornell: "Changes in Conventional Military Doctrines: An Examination of British and French Decisions and the Transformations of These Choices Abroad";

Suzanne Marchand, history, Chicago: "What Happened to Hellenism? The Volkisch Sciences in Germany from Schliemann to Carbon 14";

Jeffrey Sellers, political science, Yale: "Administrative Legality and Local Politics in France and Britain, 1950-1975";

Krystyna von Henneberg, history, California-Berkeley: "Architecture and State Control under Italian Fascism: A View from Below"; and Susan Brewster Whitney, history, Rutgers: "Catholic Action: Catholic Organizing in Inter-war France."

PRE-DISSERTATION FELLOWSHIPS ON TOPICS RELATED TO THE EC

For the first time this year, the Council for European Studies administered a Pre-Dissertation Fellowship competition on topics related to the EC. Funds for this competition were provided by the Office of Press and Public Affairs of the Delegation of the Commission of the EC (Washington, D.C.). One Fellowship was awarded to: Elizabeth Bomberg, political science, California-Santa Barbara: "European New Social Movements: Transnational Strategies and Impact." For information on the Pre-Dissertation Fellowships for Research on the EC, and information on the availability of grants for workshops on the EC, contact:

Dr. Ioannis Sinanoglou, Council for European Studies, Columbia University, 701- 703 Casa Italiana, New York, NY 10027 (Tel: 212 280-4172).

PUBLICATIONS-RESEARCH

Space constraints limit this issue of the ECS Newsletter to a sample of book-length works on the EC, its member-states, and transatlantic relations published from 1986 to the present. Journal articles and chapters in books will be listed in the Fall Newsletter issue. The Editors welcome submission of literature citations on the EC and related areas, the EC member-states, and transatlantic relations.

WORKS IN PROGRESS

Carl Lankowski (SUNY-Albany) and Ole Tonsgaard and Roland Rasmussen (Institute for Political Science, Aarhus University) are conducting an empirical study of an anti-EC social movement -- the Danish People's Movement Against the EC.

Pierre-Henri Laurent (Tufts) is preparing a work entitled "The United States and the European Community" to be published by Twayne in 1989 or 1990 as part of the International History Series, and is also preparing an article for the winter 1988-89 issue of the Journal of European Integration on methodological approaches to the study of European integration.

Juliet Lodge (Hull University) is undertaking a new edited volume on The EC Towards the 1990s slated for publication in 1989 by Frances Pinter.

Henry Nau (George Washington) is completing a new work tentatively titled "The Beacon of Bretton Woods: Domestic Policy Pillars of Postwar Prosperity" which includes significant coverage of Western Europe and Japan.

The Journal of International Affairs (Columbia University) in its Spring 1988 issue will have articles focusing on Europe in commemoration of the fortieth anniversary of the Marshall Plan, offering insights into the politics, economics, and security questions of interdependence in Europe today.

Louis Orzack (Rutgers) and C. Calogero are preparing an essay on "Midwives, Societal Patterns, and Diplomatic Discourse in the European Community" for inclusion in Research on Occupations and Professions (Jai Press, 1989).

Stephen Overturf (Whittier College) is preparing a paper which models the tradeoff between exchange rate and interest rate variance in the EMS for presentation at the April 1988 Atlantic Economic Association conference in London.

Roy Pryce (Federal Trust for Education and Research, London) and associates are working on the EC's role in the world that is expected to be a complement to The Dynamics of European Union.

Colleen Driscoll-Sullivan (Villanova) is working on the potential uses of European space technology and how an integrated planning of European technology and space policies can be advantageous to European economic and security welfare.

Todd Watkins, a Harvard Ph.D. candidate in Public Policy, is working on his dissertation: "European Technological Collaboration: Eureka, the EEC, and the Dual-Use Technologies." Watkins also worked as an EC intern in DG-XII (Science, Research, and Development) where he conducted pre-dissertation research. He was placed, with the help of the Delegation of the Commission of the EC (Washington), within DG-XII's Evaluation Division, and participated in ongoing evaluations of the BRITE (Basic Research in Industrial Technologies) and FAST (Forecasting and Assessment in Science and Technology) Programs.

TRANSATLANTIC NEWS

The European University Institute (Florence) wishes to appoint a part-time professor for three months a year for a period of four years with the task of developing and completing an international research project embodying a new approach towards the history of European integration. For information, contact: The European University Institute, Academic Service, Badia Fiesolana, I 50016 SAN DOMENICO di FIESOLE ITALY.

A "European Research Center" has been established within the Department of European Studies of Loughborough University. The Director is Dr. Joni Lovenduski. The Center will be involved in both research and training. For information, contact: European Research Center, Department of European Studies, Loughborough University, LEICESTER LE11 3TU UK (Tel: 509 222981 86).

The "Confederation of European Economic Associations" was initiated in 1981 with the purpose of establishing better cooperation among European economists. The Confederation has already organized several conferences. Alain Van Hamme has recently completed a term as a trainee member of the Cabinet of the EC Commissioner for External Relations and Trade, Willy de Clerq.

Dylan Halterlein, a 1988 graduate of the Institute of International Studies, Bradley University, has received a Fulbright Grant to conduct a study on the EC's relations with Japan since the early 1980s and will commence study at the College of Europe this Fall to begin work toward the Diploma of Advanced European Studies.

Dermot Keogh (University College, Cork) is currently a fellow at the Woodrow Wilson Center and is working on Ireland and the post-war European integration movement.

TEACHING NEWS

Charles Bukowski (Bradley) has put together a two semester sequential undergraduate course titled "European Nations in International Affairs" to acquaint students with the domestic and international forces that shape the foreign relations of Europe. Students simulate sessions of the follow-up meetings of the Conference on Security and Cooperation in Europe by representing a participating country.

Desmond Dinan (George Mason) and Roy H. Ginsberg (Skidmore) have received teaching grants from the office of Press and Public Affairs, Delegation of the Commission of the EC (Washington) to prepare and deliver new courses on the EC at their respective institutions.

R.J. Harrison (Lancaster) has put together a lecture cassette and accompanying booklet, The EEC: Development, Structure, and Processes, jointly published by the University Association for Contemporary European Studies (UACES) and Lancaster.

Stephen Overturf (Whitter) has designed an upper division economics class on the EC that is paired with a modern European history class -- students take both classes during the same semester and receive European and North American civilization credit toward their liberal education graduation requirements. The pairing of the courses insures that students understand the post-war forces leading to integration in light of the historical European experience of political and economic disintegration.

SUNY-Brockport received a grant from the EC Delegation (Washington) to hold the country's first model EC conference in April 1988. The conference, which simulated deliberations by the European Parliament, Commission, Council of Ministers, and the European Council on the question of opening membership negotiations with Turkey, brought together 90 students from New York State universities and colleges. For information, contact: Dr. William Andrews, Dept. of Political Science, SUNY-College at Brockport, Brockport, NY 14420 (Tel: 716 395-2584).
