

WINFRIED HAUSCHILD

Mr. Hauschild, who is one of the Directors in the Commission of the European Economic Community dealing with the approximation of legislation in the Directorate General for Competition, was born November 14, 1919 in Copenhagen, Denmark and lived in Helsinki, Finland from 1925 to 1929 where his father was German Minister to Finland. He attended school there during those years.

On the conclusion of his father's tour of duty he attended school in Berlin, and later the University of Berlin and University of Lausanne, Switzerland, finally receiving his doctorate of law at the University of Tuebingen, Germany.

His studies were interrupted by the war in which he served as a lieutenant in the German army from 1940 to 1945. He was wounded and lost his left arm.

At the conclusion of his post-graduate legal studies in 1949 he became head of the legal department of the German subsidiary of British Petroleum in Hamburg, Germany.

1951 Mr. Hauschild was admitted to the Board of Attorneys in Hamburg. From 1956 to 1958 he was Secretary General to a leading chemical import-export trading company in Hamburg, Biesterfeld Co.

Mr. Hauschild joined the Commission of the European Economic Community in 1958.
