

EBERHARD RHEIN

Member of the Directorate General for External Trade
Commission of the European Communities

Eberhard Rhein was born in Stettin, Germany (now Poland) in 1931. He studied economics at the University of Hamburg, where he received his doctorate, and at Princeton University and the Institute of Political Studies in Paris. He was then a business executive with a German company.

In 1965 he joined the European Economic Community and served in the Directorate General of Administration and Personnel. Since 1968 he has been in the Directorate General for External Trade (DG XI). He is currently the official particularly responsible for American affairs under Paul Luyten in the Commercial Policy Directorate for Multilateral and Agricultural Problems of DG XI.

May 1969

UK
LB
Bio Bank

480
720
8

CURRICULUM VITAE

DR. EBERHARD RHEIN (43 years old)

Present position: Assistant to the Director General for Development and Cooperation, Commission of the European Communities (since 1970)

Previous positions:

- 1957 - 59: Staff member at an economic research institute, Hamburg
- 1959 - 61: Export manager of HAKO manufacturing company, Hamburg
- 1961 - 62: Personal Assistant to the Secretary General of the Economic and Social Committee of the European Communities
- 1962 - 63: Economic Advisor to the Afghan Government
- 1963 - 65: Officer, Economic and Social Committee of the European Communities
- 1965 - 69: Officer, Directorate General for Development and Cooperation, Commission of the European Communities
- 1969 - 70: Desk officer for US-Community relations, Directorate General for External Relations, Commission of the European Communities

Education: Economics at Hamburg and Princeton Universities and at Institut d'Etudes Politiques, Paris (1952 - 57)
Degrees: Diplom-Volkswirt, Dr. rer. pol.

Publications: Investment Planning in the Market Economy, 1959
Economic Development of Afghanistan, 1880 - 1965, 1966

